

Founded in 2021, Language Teams is a language school offering online, on-site and business language courses for adults.

Requirements

“Our initial plan was to offer immersion courses with an accommodation package, but we soon realized that switching to online language courses would be the savviest option. In truth, we were already thinking of going towards online learning even before 2020, as we knew we would reach a much larger audience that way. As we aren’t specialized in creating e-learning content, we preferred to partner up with an existing, high-standard solution rather than invest in a new tool that wouldn’t be up to par. I first contacted Gymglish in March 2020. At the time, I was looking for an e-learning solution that I could offer learners at Language Teams”, says Seppe G rimont, founder of Language Teams.

The Gymglish approach

Since 2021, Gymglish has offered Language Teams Blended Learning packages - a mixed training environment that includes face-to-face learning and online solutions. This offer includes Gymglish (English lessons), Frantastique (French lessons), Hotel Borboll n (Spanish lessons) and Wunderbla (German lessons).

Benefits

“Compared to other language-learning solutions, I found that Gymglish had a bit more of an edge both in terms of content and format. Courses enable learners to monitor their progress and work on their foreign language skills daily. It gives them a clear routine, one we hope they will stick to, come what may! With Gymglish for instance, learners can complete their lessons anywhere, at any time and from any device! It’s a very convenient offer. Learners can also take virtual classes with a teacher whenever they have some spare time on their hands or a slot available in their schedule. Such isn’t the case with face-to-face lessons, which require availability.” concludes Seppe G rimont.
